

Small improvements in my work

Posted by JimDaddyO - 27 Feb 2016 17:36

I am learning a bit at a time as I go along. I am so thankful for the forum! I have some of my "routine" procedures to the point where I am getting more comfortable with it. Lightworks is more powerful than I will ever need. I am just doing some You Tube videos on things I do in and around the shop. I decided I would try adding some background music to my latest one. It took a while to get the levels where I wanted, and I still have a way to go on that, but like everything else....practice, practice, practice! So this one is my latest.

Sorry for all the gobbily gook, I am having a heck of a time embedding videos on the forum.

As far as it goes, that's a nice audio mix. Well Done!

Thank you. I am sure a better set of headphones or speakers would help. I am just using a set of dollar store earbuds.
