

Lightworks 14.5 Pro on Ubuntu 19.04

Posted by 1222tmiller - 26 Apr 2019 23:27

I have an AMD Threadripper so I had no choice to move to 18.10. Even had to update to a newer kernel manually to get full support. Runs great except it often locks up when I exit Lightworks (I can live with that). Has anyone (you guys at Lightworks?) tested this on Ubuntu 19.04 yet?

=====

Re: Lightworks 14.5 Pro on Ubuntu 19.04

Posted by hugly - 26 Apr 2019 23:45

Not an answer to your question, but lock ups on exit are not uncommon. Lightworks does a lot of cleanup on exit, in particular there are countless file handles to be closed by the OS.

=====

Re: Lightworks 14.5 Pro on Ubuntu 19.04

Posted by jwrl - 27 Apr 2019 00:47

1222tmiller wrote:

Has anyone (you guys at Lightworks?) tested this on Ubuntu 19.04 yet?

Most people here aren't in any way associated with Lightworks. I am not and hugly is not. There are a very few Lightworks staffers that come here when they can find the time. I understand that heap management in Linux has been improved in Lightworks 14.6 which is currently in development. That may address this problem.

=====

Re: Lightworks 14.5 Pro on Ubuntu 19.04

Posted by contact@lifeofdan.me - 29 Apr 2019 00:44

You can get lightworks running on 19.04, but you have to install libssl1.0.0 from packages.ubuntu.com, but this is not recommended and will likely break your system at some point in the future. Use this knowledge at your own risk. It would be fantastic if the lightworks team could update lightworks to work with libssl1.1, but I have no idea what the likelihood is of that.

=====

Re: Lightworks 14.5 Pro on Ubuntu 19.04

Posted by briandrys - 29 Apr 2019 01:51

Welcome to the forum.

You're not a new user, but I would suggest changing your user name to avoid attracting spam.

=====

Re: Lightworks 14.5 Pro on Ubuntu 19.04

Posted by contact@lifeofdan.me - 29 Apr 2019 04:10

Thankfully, I use this account mainly for spam/stuff I don't want to get emails about. However, I don't want any more spam than I have to have so I have put in a request to change my name. Unfortunately, I can't change my name myself.

=====

Re: Lightworks 14.5 Pro on Ubuntu 19.04

Posted by 1222tmiller - 06 May 2019 03:00

>> Lightworks 14.6

Any chance they are updating the libssl? This seems to be my major issue moving to Ubuntu 19.04 in the near future.

=====

Re: Lightworks 14.5 Pro on Ubuntu 19.04

Posted by briandrys - 06 May 2019 03:35

When the V14.6 beta testing begins you should remind them if you don't hear in the meantime, the developers sometimes post in a thread if a fix has been done in an upcoming version.

=====

Re: Lightworks 14.5 Pro on Ubuntu 19.04

Posted by audreyspency - 06 May 2019 23:17

I have an AMD Threadripper so I had no way out to move to 18.10. Indeed, even needed to refresh to a more up to date bit physically to get full help. Runs extraordinary aside from it frequently bolts up when I exit Lightworks (I can live with that). Has anybody (you folks at Lightworks?) tried this on Ubuntu 19.04 yet? HostGator DreamHost Bluehost

=====

Re: Lightworks 14.5 Pro on Ubuntu 19.04

Posted by alekisan - 12 May 2019 12:20

I just tried to install it and it asks for my password to do the install then fails without error and just shows the install button again.

=====

Re: Lightworks 14.5 Pro on Ubuntu 19.04

Posted by hugly - 12 May 2019 12:28

Hi,

I suspect that's a Linux installation (Ubuntu or such) with the GUI. If so, I'm fairly convinced that Lightworks has been installed properly and if you search you'll find it..

Edit: .. Unless, it's a non supported Linux distro or most recent Ubuntu 19.04. If it's the latter, please see the first post by Uziah above www.lwks.com/index.php?option=com_kunena&func=view&catid=21&id=196640&Itemid=81#196766

=====

Re: Lightworks 14.5 Pro on Ubuntu 19.04

Posted by micahmasterstudios - 12 May 2019 14:26

Can I just say, a universal Linux installer/container would make most of these questions irrelevant! Lightworks needs to be bundled as a Snap package or a Flatpak and ALL Linux distros would work fine with Lightworks.

=====

Re: Lightworks 14.5 Pro on Ubuntu 19.04

Posted by hugly - 12 May 2019 14:46

I think, if it would be easy, they would have done it already, because it opens a wider market. I can't say what the drawbacks are, but devs should be able to explain.

=====

Re: Lightworks 14.5 Pro on Ubuntu 19.04

Posted by alekisan - 12 May 2019 14:47

Yes I'm trying to install it on Ubuntu 19.04.

I read the post but would rather not introduce instability. Thanks for the replies.

=====

Re: Lightworks 14.5 Pro on Ubuntu 19.04

Posted by hugly - 12 May 2019 14:52

Ubuntu 19.04 is new and has been released after the current Lightworks release V14.5. That might explain the problem.

I can imagine that it will be addressed with the next version of Lightworks, but this might take a while for final release.

For the time being, Lightworks runs on Ubuntu 18.04 LTS very well.

=====