On installation, I was told that must register in a week but there is no menu to register the product.

You do this with your sign in activation on Lightworks.

You've register already properly with Lightworks by registering to this forum. Wait for the 7-day guest account (trial period) to expire. Then, you'll be asked to sign in with this panel:

Use the credentials, user name and password, you're using now to activate the software. If successful, your account will be issued with a license for Lightworks Free and you can continue working on your projects. The Free license has to be renewed, by signing-in that way, every seven days, as it stands now with V14.5.
