Is it better to start with the Beta version given it sound like it will be released fairly soon?

Hello,

As you say, given that the version 2020.1 is close to release, most known issue should be fixed. Furthermore, it has some nice new features so, why not skipping V14.5 and starting with the beta?

If going with the beta, remember to install the release build of V2020.1.

However, best not use it for highly critical projects, at least without testing first aspects of Lightworks that you need.
