

Unofficial Wiki

Posted by funkytwig - 08 Apr 2011 10:06

I took the plunge and set-up a wiki for us to share tips/tricks and help the documentation develop.. This is probably temporary until EditShare manage to do something. Its open/anyone can join/change. I will leave it this way unless it gets out of control and do some Wiki Gardening and see how it goes.

Good on ya Ben,

Little mention..

Liteworks Unofficial Documentasion Wiki

should be spelled

Liteworks Unofficial Documentation Wiki

I think this is a very good idea, as is the hints and tips PDF. Centralising knowledge is always a good thing. This wiki doesn't look very user friendly yet, maybe it needs some more customisation. Does wikidot allow that?

Feel free to correct it, anyone can change the wiki.

@funkytwig. Not used to wiki editing. How do we edit the title at the top to change "Liteworks" to "Lightworks" and correct the spelling of "documentation"?

I have updated the .mts to .mp4 MediaCoder work flow description.

I am afraid Wikis are not very user-friendly until you get the hang of the mark-up (which actually does not take that long). When I get time I will look into setting up a GUI wiki but I don't want to spend too much time on the tech. Hopefully when we get the thing going EditShare can step in and help. If not I will eventually set something else up (this is a free wiki, I dont want to put money into something that EditShare are best placed to coordinate).

...not sure, but if you like, you can "hard"-link tutorial-videos from lightworks.mtv-web.ufg.ac.at (lang. DE / "austrian" ,-) [the videos should be self-explanatory]

+ www.dma.ufg.ac.at/app/link/Allgemein%3AModule/module/23828

(the video-backup is on a tape storage system too; they should be available 24/7 with "no" downtime...)

greetings

ps. comments on wrong workflows are always welcome...

pps. still not sure eg. > if shortcut "6" (avid prefs) for preview is also meant for "preview trim";... (didnt get it to work; find it)

>> ppps. i had to redefine shortcuts with the _same keys_ which already have been defined to get them working (old silicon graphics ps/2 keyboard (alias wavefront composer 4.0 ,-) who know who cares) ,)

Good to see people adding stuff to the wiki. Recently I have been using Google Sites and was thinking it may be an idea to move wiki to it. It is a lot more WISYWIG. Recently I have started moving a site from wikidot to Google Sites. icontactvideo.wikidot.com/start -> sites.google.com/site/icontactvideo/. Did not take that long, cut and paste a lot quicker than wiki markup. Not sure how well it would work for a Wiki with lots of editors.

Your thoughts?

Ben

hm, I'm not a fan of "google"-everything. all they want is "your data" to make money somehow ,-)

i heard of youtube/google frontpage few days ago -> you have to login to see some videos on youtube and when you use google-search afterwards they "warm welcome" you with your personal cookie and tee ,) (...to track you across domains and services etc.)

greet

Well, everything is falling down, we call it gravitation... 🙄

EDIT

I've no time and skills to edit wiki, but AVCHD Workflow contains improper link to my preset for Mediacoder. In fact, the link points to my XMedia Recode preset (which is absent in this transcoder's section) and should point here.

I have corrected the link to drkuli's preset in the wiki AVCHD workflow.
